Photographic Reproduction Guidelines

If you are interested in obtaining digital reproductions of photographs or images in the MIHS collection, please read the following guidelines before completing our Digital Image and Use Request form.

Rights and Terms of Use

The Marco Island Historical Society (MIHS) will only grant reproduction requests for image(s) or material(s) that 1) it owns the copyright(s) for or 2) have “no known copyright restrictions.” MIHS cannot guarantee the copyright status of any image(s) or material(s), including those with “no known copyright restrictions.” It is up to the requestor to determine and obtain any other necessary permission, including that of any relevant outside parties. Examples of “relevant outside parties” include original artists, authors, owners, photographers, publishers, or any pictured individuals who have not expressly granted copyright privileges to the MIHS. Requestor expressly understands, acknowledges and agrees to indemnify MIHS from any and all claims or damages arising from use.

One-Time Use

If permission to reproduce a photograph or image is granted by the MIHS, it is thereby approved for one-time, non-exclusive, worldwide use. This means that if the image is to be used in any way other than that described by the requestor on the Digital Image and Use Request form, including re-use in another publication or format, subsequent request(s) and usage fee(s) must be submitted. If a digital copy of the image is provided by MIHS, it may not be altered, redesigned, or manipulated in any way other than that expressly stated on the Digital Image and Use Request form.

Usage Fees

The MIHS reserves the right to charge a usage fee for any images reproduced from its collections for publication, exhibition, distribution, or any other purpose. Fees support the long-term preservation of the collection and its accessibility to future patrons. However, at the discretion of the MIHS, fees may be waived or reduced if requested image(s) is (are) intended for use in a non-profit, educational, or scholarly fashion. See the latest MIHS Fee Schedule for current rates.
